LIQUOR FOUND ON FARM NEAR ELMO

OFFICERS RAID HOME WILLIAM McMICHAELS.

WOULD CLOSE STAR BARN

BULLETIN.

The hearing before Judge John M. Dawson to close the Star livery barn as a public nuisance was postponed this afternoon until 9:00 o'clock Thursday morning.

Part of a distilling outfit, a gallon jug of "white mule", several quart and pint bottles of th esame liquid and a number of empty bottle is the haul made by county officers in a raid staged last night, at the home of William McMichaels, three miles northwest of Elmo.

The raid wa smade by Sheriff Steve Roach and Deputy Leo Atherton, with the mayor and city marshall of Blanchard, Ia., cooperating. The "tip" on the existence of the still came from that town, after the arrest of two intoxicated men, from whom confessions were obtained on promise of immunity. They made statements saying they had purchased liquor from McMichaels, whose place is not far from the state line. The Blanchard officials then notified Sheriff Roach.

The Nodaway County sheriff and his deputy left here about 5 o'clock going first to Blanchard. They reach McMichael's home just before dark. They went directly to the house, where they told McMichaels they had a warrant to search the premises. McMichaels told them to go ahead and he would go with them.

"Found" the Liquor

The officers first found the gallon jug of white liquid, either corn or raisin whisky. McMichaels declared he had found the jug, after he had seen a man hide it near the road. When other bottle of the intoxicant were found scattered in various parts of the house, he said he had stored the liquor for his personal use and had forgotten about it.

A boiler and cover, apparently used as part of a distilling outfit, were found in the raid, but the copper coils had disappeared and no mash was found.

McMichaels is 45 years old. His farm is a small one, covering only about 32 acres. He had been under surveillance of the officers for some time. Mrs. McMichaels admitted, according to the raiders, that her husband sold a quart of the whiskey last night to two men, receiving $8 in payment. Nine men are said to have been seen coming from the house recently under the influence of liquor.

Four Charges Filed.

Charles McCaffrey, prosecuting attorney, will file information against McMichaels on four separate charges. The first alleges unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor, the second unlawful possession of the liquor, the third unlawful selling of the same, and the fourth having on his premises implements used in the manufacture of the liquor. They will be heard at the September term of circuit court.

This is the first still found in the campaign of the county officers to suppress all illicit liquor traffic. A quantity of mash was found last Thursday night on the J. Q. Weatherman farm, three and one-half miles northeast of Guilford, but no still was found. Sheriff Roach also has eight bottles of genuine, bottled-in-bond whisky which was taken from the suitcase of a man who never returned for his property. The treasure is carefully stored in the vault in the sheriff's office.

Would Close Livery Barn.

Injunction proceedings to close the Star livery barn, owned by Q. A. Gilmore, as a public nuisance, were instituted this morning by Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey. Judge John M. Dawson heard witnesses at 3 o'clock this afternoon. They testified that the livery barn was a loafing place for undesirable elements and charged that liquor has been sold there.

Gilmore is a brother-in-law of Ed Hammond, who was convicted in police court yesterday morning on a charge of bootlegging. The testimony at the trial charged that Hammond sold corn whisky at $8 a quart, and that he secreted the liquor at the Star barn, which he made the center of his operations.

Satisfied that there are other stills in operation in the county, Sheriff Roach this morning declared his intention to "keep them on the jump."

"We can't go just on rumor, but if we can get the evidence, we'll get them," he said. "We will take search warrants and go right into the suspected places and search the premises."

The sheriff and Deputy Atherton have traveled more than five hundred miles in the last few days tracing down rumors that stills are being operated.

CALLS ILLITERACY NATIONAL MENACE

DR. J. J. TIGERT SPEAKES ON PROBLEMS OF EDUCATION

OTHER LEADERS COMING

Rural Life Experts Will Give Addresses at State Teachers' College Saturday Morning

"Problems of Education" was the subject of the address given by Dr. J. J. Tigert, National commissioner of education at the State Teachers' College this morning. The greatest problem according to Dr. Tigert is to take away illiteracy in America.

President Richardson introduced Dr. Tigert as a scholar, a teacher, a leader, and a Missourian. He told of the former life of the commissioner, mentioning the fact that he was once a teacher in Central College, President Richardson's alma mater.

In reply to the introduction the speaker said that the school was losing a man of worth with Dr. Richardson's resignation and that the loss would be felt, but that in President-Elect Lamkin it is getting a man who has made a name for himself all over the United States. He said:

"Mr. Lamkin has just ersigned from a position that probably no other man in the United States can so ably fill. I was at a banquet last week at Washington given in honor of Mr. Lamkin. Some of the leaders of the senate were present and the compliments paid him were many, but they were all merited, as he is a worker and deserves the credit."

Passing into his address of the day, Dr. Tigert said

Praises Lamkin

"Mr. Lamkinn has just resigned ment, 'All men are created free and equal'. Literally translated, that is one of the most serious mistkes that was ever made. No two men, or women either, were ever created equal, mentally, morally, or physically. It is true that there are many that bear the same characteristics, but there are no two who are equal. What our forefathers meant was that all men are equal in that they all have the same chances to develop their possibilities. No one can discredit that but at the same time does not make them equal. The man who develops his education is the man who will eventually be the leader.

Signs of Decay

"The United States is only 132 years old, but right nows signs of decay are already showing. Illiteracy must be elminated as speedily as possible if we want our nation to lead the world.

"Spain used to be the dominant nation of the globe. At the time of the colonization of America she owned or governed the largest portion of the world. Now we find her one of the most unimportant countries of the two hemispheres. The reason is that 60 per cent of the people of Spain are illiterate.

"There is not a nation in all of South America that is of any material importance in the world today. They are large and have enormous population, but what do they amount to? Ignorance is the reason for the backward place that they hold. Ninety-two per cent of the people of Guatamala are illiterate. In Uruguay the population is 32 per cent.

"On the other hand, Germany has come up. It used to be that she was on a level with the other countries. Now she is on a higher plane. There is, on the average, only one out of every 5,000 in Germany who cannot read and write the language.

Germany Far Ahead

"I am not a pro-German nor a sympathizer with them, but any honest man will have to admit that the conditions in Germany at the present are far above those in many of the larger nations of the globe.

"At present 25 per cent of the citizens of the United States cannot read and write English. Something must be done, and done at once.

"Edward Everett said, "An educated citizenship is more of an asset to a nation than a large standing army"! There is no first rate power that has a large rate of illiteracy.

GREEN TOWNSHIP BOARD PURCHASES NEW TRACTOR

Will Be Used to Put Every Main Road in Good Condition—Old Tractor Traded

Green Township now has a Rumley Oil Pull tractor, purchased by the township for road work. The tractor was received yesterday and will probably be tried out for the first time tomorrow. The purchase price was $3,250, but the board traded in its old Altman-Taylor tractor for $1,250.

Every main road in Green Township will be graded this year. The township board considers it much more economical to purchase its own equipment to keep the roads in condition than to contract with individuals to do the work. The board will hold its regular meeting in Quitman today or tomorrow.

GEORGIANS HONOR DR. L. O. BRICKER

FORMER MINISTER HERE COMPLETES 10TH YEAR AT ATLANTA.

"MOST BELOVED PASTOR"

Dr. L. O. Bricker, former pastor of the First Christian church of Maryville, celebrated his tenth anniversary as pastor of the First Christian church at Atlanta, Ga., last Sunday by reviewing in a special sermon his work at that place during the past ten years.

He left Sunday night for New York, where his vacation will include the International Christian Endeavor convention, a special course of lectures in Columbia University and the summer conference of ministers at Union Theological Seminary. Before returning to his work he will visit his old home in Virginia.

Dr. Bricker went to Georgia when he left Missouri and has been at Atlanta since that time. During his ministry there he has won the confidence of his congregation, and the Atlanta, Georgia Constitution speaks of him as "the city's best known and most universally beloved minister." The splendid accomplishments of Dr. Bricker's ministry has been reflected in the rapid growth of his congregation.

In an editorial Saturday the Atlanta Georgian, speaking of Dr. Bricker said: "To know him is a real inspiration. No sweeter human being lives in this dear city of ours; no more scholarly or consecrated minister of the gospel labors among our people.

"The thing one learns to love about Doctor Bricker more than anything else is his abiding and bouyant optimism. He believes in the goodness, the kindness and the love and the mercy of the God he serves; and into all he says and does there enters an evident sweetness and gentleness of charaeter that is most appealing."

Dr. Bricker has not held a revival meeting during the entire time that he has been in Atlanta, but he has received into membership in his church about two thousand members. He has officiated at more than a thousand weddings and about the same number of funerals.

He has stressed strongly the joy of giving, a spirit which is reflected in the fact that his congregation has raised $1,500 a year for missions and supports a woman medical missionary in India, besides their support of the one missionary in China, "assigned" to them.

One of the greatest tributes paid to Doctor Bricker on the celebration of his tenth anniversary of service in Atlanta was a letter written by Dr. C. B. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke's church, in which he tells his many accomplishments and finishes by saying, "Happy are the flocks with such a shepherd, and privileged is the man who can call him friend."

Alfred Owens of Hopkins was in the city yesterday.

HAIL STORM DOES DAMAGE TO CROPS

CORN AND OATS BADLY HURT NEAR HAMONY

MAN CUT AND BRUISED

A hail and wind storm which took a path from the southwest to the northeast of Nodaway County early damaging the crops in numerous places, occurred about 6 o'clock last night. The storm passed east of Graham, striking Maryville and Arkoe, but missing Barnar dand Bedison, and went on northeast.

Harmony was hit worse than other places, the crops being badly damaged by hail, trees being blown down in about two sections in that neighborohod. The hail stones were described to be between one and two inches in diameter, and the corn in many places was knocked completely down or riddled of all leaves, and the oats were bady damaged.

The house of the Rev. C. R. Green of Harmony had twenty-two window panes knocked out, and Buford Heflin, a young farmer living in the same neighborhood, was caught out in the field. The hail was so large, it cut a gash about an inch long on his head and his body was covered with bruises. His horses became so frightened he was forced to cut the lines.

Among those suffering partial losses of crops by the storm are Mark Heflin, Harry Martin, Frank Van Velson, the Rev. C. R. Green, Dr. Day and Mr. Conrad.

Many trees were blown down and telephone wires were crossed and twisted in the path of the storm. On the Leslie Popham tarm northeast of Quitman, the garden was completely riddled, the corn and oats badly damaged and all but twenty out of one hundred and fifty spring chickens belonging to Mrs. Popahm were killed by the hail. A large tree in the Mount Ayr neighborhood, east of Maryville was blown down.

With the exception of a few trees being blown down, Maryville was not injured. The worst damage was done at the home of Ed Brewer, 207 South Saunders street, where the house was damaged to the extent of about $100 when a tree was blown down on it. The greatest damage was done to the roof, and one end of the house and the light wires were torn down by the falling trees.

FORTUNE TELLER TESTIFIES FOR STATE IN KABER CASE

Says She Was Asked to Use Psychic Powers to Kill Wealthy Publisher for His Money

Courthouse, Cleveland, O., July 7.—Mrs. Mary Wade, fortune teller and medium, declared on the witness stand today that Mrs. Katherine Kaber wanted to kill her husband to secure his wealth for her college professor lover.

The fortune teller, testifying for the state in the trial of the woman charged with the murder of Daniel Kaber, wealthy publisher, related part of a former conversation with the accused woman.

"Kill Dan Kaber," she said to me, "Professor is all brains and has no money; Kaber has money and I want it for the professor; he has insurance policies for $50,000, and if you kill him I will give you a big share of it. Mrs. Kaber wanted me to use my psychic powers to kill Kaber."

During Mrs. Wade's testimony, "spooks" fluttered all over the courtroom and she testified that she had communicated with the "spirit of Kaber' the slain man, six months after the murder."

FIRE DOES $45 DAMAGE AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Blaze Starts From Cigarette Stub Dropped on Roof, It Is Thought.

The fire department was called out about 2:45 o'clock this afternoon to extinguish a fire in the roof of St. Mary's church on South Davis street. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that a cigarette stub was dropped from the tower to the roof and started the wore. Workmen were doing some repairing on the tower. Forty-five dollars will cover the damages done, according to the report of fire chief Burt Rowley.

Mrs. Anna Hotchkiss of Kansas City who has been visiting in Maryville the last three weeks at the home of Mrs. Jessie F. Colden left today for Sheridan, Mo., for a visit with relatives.

BILL IS PASSED TO LIMIT REFERENDUM

INCREASES SIGNERS NECESSARY TO 15 PER CENT OF VOTERS.

DEMOCRATS TO REFER IT

Measure Has not Yet Passed House, However—Circulation of Petitions Is Prohibited.

Jefferson City, July 7.—The senate yesterday passed by a vote of 18 to 8 the Gray substitute for the Bennett constitutional amendment to repeal the initiative and referendum.

The substitute leaves the provision of the constitution stand, but seeks to amend it by increasing to 15 per cent the percentage of voters necessary to invoke either the initiative or referendum.

The senate also passed the Blodgett-Pickett bill prohibiting circulation of referendum petitions and making it a misdemeanor to pay or receive compensation in connection with referendum petitions.

The bill provides that referendum petitions can only be signed in the office of clerks of county records, mayors of cities and justices of the peace.

The Democrats may invoke the referendum to hold up these measures if they are passed by the House too, according to a statement by Thomas H. Fisher, secretary of the Democratic State Committee.

"My opinion is that the house will decline to put any such restrictions on the referendum as have been proposed," Fisher said. "There is some question whether the committee will order a referendum against the new judicial redistricting bill. It permits the present judges to serve out their terms, and, while it is a political measure, the Democrats do not desire to interfere with the action of the courts."

The referendum can be invoked against the bill now before the legislature to stop the payment of circulators of petitions and providing that the petitions shall be deposited with the clerk of courts of record or justice courts, to be signed there. The joint resolution to submit a constitutional amendment raising the number of signatures required to 15 per cent is not subject to referendum. The present percentage required is 5 to submit the question at a regular election and 8 at a special election.

PERMISSION TO REMOVE SIGN REFUSED BY COUNCIL

Ordinance Regulating the Parking of Cars and City Traffic Will Be Considered Next Tuesday

A petition from the Maryville Motor Company asking permission from the city council to remove the Dodge Brothers sign from its present location at 102-04 South Main street to their new location at 413-15 North Main street was turned down at the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night. The petition was refused because it did not comply with the ordinance regulating signs.

The ordinances regulating parking of cars and city traffic were not taken up Tuesday night because T. A. Cummins, city attorney, who has ben ill, has not been able to prepare them. They will be considered at a special meeting next Tuesday night.

There were 1,510 books and magazines loaned from the city library and a total of 1,392 readers who visited the reading rooms last month, according to the report of Miss Grace Langan, librarian. There was an average of fifty-eight books loaned a day through the month of June and an average of forty-nine readers in the reading room. There were fifty-two reader cards issued and the total collections for the month was $29.39.

The report of E. E. Tilton, chief of police shows that the city collected $97.15 in police court fines and costs. None of these cases were for violation of the traffic ordinances.

Washington, July 7.—The thinking people of Japan give no heed to the talk of a possible war between America and Japan, according to Prof. Shiego Suybhirio of Kyoto, Imperial University of Tokio, who is here consulting with the leading Angrigin ligislation on the subject of limitations of armament.

"The great majority of Japanese people are progressive and realize that peace and negotiations are far more desirable than militant actions," according to the educator. He added that antagonism toward the United States exists largely in masses.

MISSOURI ABSORBS 43,427 IMMIGRANTS

INCLUDES FEW FARMERS

But Farm Laborers Numbered 7,307 And Common Laborers 10,156 —Many Skilled Workers.

Jefferson, City, Mo., July 1.—Information on the occupations of 45,427 immigrants of both sexes who entered the United States with Missouri as their direct destination during the nine years which ended with the close of 1920, is given in a bulleti of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, promulgated today by Commissioner William H. Lewis. The treatise is a companion to a similar bulletin issued a week ago by the same State Department which gave the nationalities of this army of invading aliens. The facts and figures which are imparted serve the purpose of indicating how useful and desirable this annual addition to Missouri's population, dating back to the commencement of 1912 really is.

Common laborers predominated among the 45,427 immigrants, who selected Missouri on entering the country as their intended future home this army, totaling 10,156 or nearly 23.4 per cent of the entire influx. Then come 7,307 farm laborers, a valuable and warmly welcomed addition to the state's inhabitants, the Bureau of Labor Statistics Bulletin declares since there is always from all over Missouri, a constant demand for toilers of this line.

Farmer Arrivals were Scarce

Farmer immigrants credited to Missouri by the official source from which these declarations are taken, numbered only 640, a highly essential host, but so insignificant in proportions that all were quickly swallowed by Missouri's vastness when they reached here and it now is not definitely known in which counties they settled.

Immigrants of "no occupation", credited to Missouri, embraced in the nine years considered, proctically a hundred per cent women and children, totaled 13,366 or about 31 per cent of the foreign inflow.

Those classed as following "professional occupations" in Missouri's nine years of arriving immigrants, only aggregated 630 with teachers leading with 122 aliens of both sexes clergymen, second on the list with 102; civil engineers ranking third with 80 and other professions represented as follows: actors, 36; architects, 15; editors ,7; electrical experts, 39; lawyers, 14; literary and scientific persons, 22; musicians, 32; expert officials, 30; physicians, 27; sculptors and artists, 13; and other miscellaneous professions, 91.

Tailors Led the Tradesmen.

The classification "skilled tradesmen and women, mechanics", for the nine year period, 1912 to 1920, immigrants arriving at United States sea ports destined for Missouri, totaled 5,638 men and women. Tailors led off with 798, all, undoubtedly, as the trade implies, of the masculine sex, for seamstresses or handled separately with 262 entries of that trade and sex, credited to Missouri's alien inflow. Carpenters and joiners numbered 442; miners, 255; masons, 234; shoemakers, 419; bakers, 179; barbers and hairdressers, 146; dressmakers, 307; clerks and accountants 712; butchers and meat packers, 194; locksmiths, 127; and painters and glaziers, 110.

No "Brewers" after 1915

While the calling which centuries ago made the supposed Flemish King, Cambrinus, famous, and brought his memory down to the present generation, promises, through the advent of prohibition, to soon become a lost art in this country, unless beer with sufficient "kick" in it to make it real beer, is allowed for medicinal purposes, sixteen brewers are credited as having arrived on this side of the Atlantic with Missouri as their promised land, in the last nine years but none came in after the close of 1915. That year there was one such arrival of this calling as compared to six for 1914; six for 1913 and three for 1912; No such settlers are credited to Missouri for 1920, 1919, 1918, 1917 nor 1915, and as that fact may be to those who are anxious to have the Federal lid tilted enough to allow four or five cases of "4.75" per cent of suds" per individual per month in the future, for "medicinal purposes only."

Eight immigrant cigarmakers entered Missouri during the nine years under consideration and one cigarette maker. Then there were 61 locomotive marine and station engineers; 16 bookbinders; 17 cabinet makers; 21 furriers and fur workers; 63 gardeners; 23 hat and cap makers; 59 iron and steel workers; 19 jewelers; 90 machinists; 94 mariners; 77 miscellaneous mechanics; 14 brass, copper, bronz and sheet metal workers; 23 millers; 66 milliners; 4 pattern makers; 14 photographers; 14 plasterers; 31 plumbers; 32 printers; 14 harnessmakers; 18 stokers; 26 stone cutters; 21 tanners and curriers; 12 textile workers; 44 tinners; 11 upholsterers; 39 watch and clock makers; 93 weavers and spinners; 18 wheelwrights; 9 wood workers; and 24 other skilled workers not already enumerated.

Mrs. McCumber Avoided a Serious Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time

Georgetown, Ill.—"After my first baby was born I suffered so with my left side that I could not walk across the floor unless I was all humped over, holding to my side. I doctored with several doctors but found no relief and they said I would have to have an operation. My mother insisted on my taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I soon found relief. Now I can do all my own work and it is the Vegetable Compound that has saved me from an operation. I cannot praise your medicine too highly and I tell all of my friends and neighbors what the Compound did for me." — Mrs. MARGARET MCCUMBER, 27 S. Frazier St., Georgetown, Illinois.

Mrs. McCumber is one of the unnumbered thousands of housewives who struggle to keep about their daily tasks, while suffering from ailments peculiar to women with backache, sideaches, headaches, bearing-down pains and nervousness,—and if every such woman should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial they would get well.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Much dissatisfaction has been expressed in regard to the change of the mail services to Graham, cutting the place off from Maryville, for the benefit of a little town in a neighboring county. We learn, however, that active measures are on foot to replace the mail connecting Graham and Maryville, and the change will probably be made soon.

Mr. John W. Walker has been appointed Postmaster at the newly established office at Bridgewater, and we learn that he has received his commission, and the office will be ready for business in a few days. This will be a great advantage to a large number of people in that part of the county.

From what we learn, the township subscriptions along the line of the proposed Hopkins and Creston railroad have all been carried and active preparations are being made to commence the work. This will connect us with Chicago, placing us more than one hundred miles nearer to that city than we are at present. With good luck, the connection will probably be made next summer.

Mr. Jacob Everhart informs us that one day last week his army of chintz bugs left his wheat and corn field, passed through his garden without injuring it, crossed the road, and struck boldly out across the prairie for one of his neighbor's. They were so thick that the ground was black with them, and moved in regular order as if under the command of officers.

The association for the protection of property against the depredations of thieves, completed their organization at the court house last Saturday. The society is well organized and horse thieves will find it hard work to get away with their booty now. Every citizen of the county should join the society, which they may do at any time by calling at the county clerk's office, signing the constitution and by-laws and paying $1.00.

Orange Tree Bears Continuously

An everbearing Valencia orange tree, which is destined to revolutionize the orange industry, has been discovered by horticulturists in a grove at Tampa. The tree is about fifteen years old and has been bearing continuously eight year and apparently authentic records indicate that at no time during that peroid has it failed to have fruit and blossons at all stages of maturity. Everbearing Florida lemons have been common for many years.

Jury Trial in Far North

The first jury trial ever held in the Mackenzie territory will be conducted at Fort Providence upon the arrival of the judge and the legal party who recently left Edmonton fo rthe North. It will be the trial of a man for the murder of his wife and infant child.

Coal Strike Clears Fog

During the coal strike the change in the atmosphere of Londo nhas been noticeable. The air is clear and coal dust has ceased to settle in an ugly gray on clothing. Medical men have joined with architects in demanding that there be legislative repression of the uses of soft coal.

Mummy is 8,000 Years Old

Beauty enduring for eight thousand years on the face of a girl is a remarkable feature of a mummy that has been brought to London from Egypt and is now in the Egyptology section of the University College.

Paris to Havre by Air

Passenger for the United States who miss the boat trains running between Paris and Havre, are to be taken to Havre by airplane. The planes will leave Le Bourget two hours after the boat trains have departed.

Preferred Test Elsewhere

A Brooklyn judge refused to admit as evidence in a burglar's case a bag containing dynamite, fuse and blasting caps which were brought into court. When the prosecutor directed an expert to fit the caps to the fuse the Judge suggested that the test be made before the grand jury.

TIMELY HOT WEATHER ADVICE ON SHIPPING OF HOGS

As the summer season approaches shippers are cautioned against loading their hogs too heavily and in cars not properly bedded, to prevent loss in transit. The following suggestions are herein printed with the hope that they will be beneficient and be heeded by both shippers and railroad employes: 1. Haul or drive your hogs into shipping station in ample time to allow them to become rested and cool before loading. 2. Insist upon a clean car bedded with sand. 3. Wet down the bedding and interior of the car before loading. 4. Give only a light grain feeding before shipping. Heavy feed means more body heat generated. 5. Load not more than 1 hour before the train is to depart. 5. Load slowly and carefully. Avoid excitement and do not beat or bruise the animals. 7. load not to exceed 16,000 pounds in a standard 36-foot car during warm weather. 8. Have the car drenched at every available point immediately after the train stops. 9. Use ice bags suspended from the car roof whenever possible. Six bags to a car will suffice. 10. Report any inattention or neglect to your commission man immediately upon arrival. Suggestions for the railroads: 1. Furnish clean cars or cars bedded in accordance with shippers suggestion. 2. Use sand in preference to other bedding. 3. Provide suitable facilities for watering the hogs and wetting down the bedding and interior of car. 4. Provide suitable drenching facilities for use en route. 5. Drench frequently immediately after the train stops, but not after the car has stood until hogs are heated. 6. Keep loaded car where air currents circulate and not alongside buildings, engines or cuts of cars. 7. Provide extra hose at all tank stations for use in drenching in emergency cases. 8. Designate constant supervision over these facilities and their use. 9. Never throw water directly upon the hogs after they become heated. Run it up the floor instead. 10. Report any careless or negligent shipper to the consignee and keep a complete record thereof.

To Arrive Tomorrow.

Miss Mullicane formerly lived in Lebanon, and W. McComb, prominent Lebanon banker, is charged by the girl with being the father of her baby.

he sells them for $2,000. If a man makes delicate watch springs out of this raw material they sell for $10,000. Therefore the watch springs made out of a ton of pig iron represent $40 worth of material and $9,960 worth of education."

OIL WELL IS BROUGHT IN 60 MILES FROM ST. JOSEPH

Hundreds Rushing to Seneca, Kan., Where Liquid Gold is Flowing —Town is Booming

Seneca, Kas., July 7.—This town of 2,500 population hasn't the romm to accommodate the hundreds who are rushing here following the announcement that oil had been struck in Center township, about ten miles west of here. Seneca is gradually gaining a resemblance to the famous Texas and Oklahoma town, where big oil strikes were made some time ago. All incoming tarins are loaded many are coming by automobile. Tuesday two men arrived from Texas by airplane. It's all due to the magic word "oil." On every lip there's talk of options, leases, strikes and stocks Seneca is rapidly acquiring a curb market and oil "brokers" are not few.

Geologists had predicted that oil would never be located north of the Kaw river but well No.1 of the Nemaha Oil and Gas company repudiates the theory and in no mild manner. This particular well has been estimated to have a capacity of 1,000 to 1,500 barrels a day. It appears to be a high grade crude oil that will probably show a gravity test of 35.

The Nemaha Oil and Gas company capitalized at $1,000,000 has leased 12,000 acres in this vicinity. The outlook for further strikes of the liquid gold is said to be alluring and drilling operations will likely begin soon in many places.

NUMBER 13

Punctures

Michelin users have often remarked that these superior tires puncture less frequently than other makes.

This freedom from punctures is due to the extra thickness of the Michelin tread. This added tread-thickness makes it unusually difficult for objects to penetrate to the inner tube.

The 34x4 Michelin, for example, is practically a whole inch thick. Come in and let us show you your size.

MISSOURI ABSORBS 43,247 IMMIGRANTS

Six Bankers are Listed

A financial hue is given this otherwise prosaic narrative of facts and figures by the assertion that six banker immigrants selected Missouri as the commonwealth in which to practice that calling, entering the State between the opening of 1912 and the last day of 1920. Three arrived in 1916, and one each during the years 1914, 1913 and 1912, with none charged up for neither 1920, 1919, 1918, 1917 nor 1915. Then there were 51 agents entries but the official information at hand does not make it clear whether they were the much dreaded book-selling veriety who manage somehow to gain admittance regardless of barricades and barriers into any and every sanctum sanctorum, or the harmless species who only insist upon selling a clothes-wringer, a sewing machine or a rug.

Servants, Both Sexes, Numerous

Alien servants of both sexes entering Missouri direct in nine years are put down by the Bureau of Labor at 4,234, with 1,324 arriving in 1914, the year the World War opened; 1,135 in 1913; 982 in 1912; 282 in 1915 136 in 1916; 111 in 1917; 25 in 1918; 24 in 1919; and 215 in 1920. Immigrants of other callings, destined for this state, not already delved into the same nine-years period, were: merchants and dealers, 585; draymen hackmen and teamsters, 40, fishermen, 74; hotelkeepers, 26; manufacturers, 13; and "general miscellaneous" 662.

Of the 43,427 immigrants supposed to have been added to Missouri's population in nine years, 8,980 entered during 1912; 11,504 during 1913; 13,781 during 1914; 2,743 during 1915; 1,746 during 1916; 1,320 during 1917; 489, the lowest ebb in nine years, during 1918; 690 during 1919; and last, 2,174 during 1920. So says the 1920 Red Book of the State Bureau of Labor Statistics the Missouri Centennial (1821-1921) Anniversary edition.

Flies Over Grand Canyon

An army airman flew across the Grand Canyon several times recently and also flew down into the gorge. He has been detailed by the War Department to study the air currents in and over the canyon and to locate possible landing fields there. This is believed to be a preliminary to establishing a commercial airplane service in that vicinity.

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Maryville Folks.

J. N. Bryan, retired farmer, 222 11th St., Maryville, says: "I can say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. At one time I was having trouble with my kidneys and back. I had an intense soreness through the small of my back which caused me great pain when I tried to bend and straighten up quickly. My kidneys acted too frequently and this weakened me. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I started to use them. I found great relief from the start and after using Doan's a while I was relieved of the trouble. It has been some time since I have needed to use Doan's Kidney Pills so I know the benefit they gave me is a lasting one." (Statement given June 13, 1916.)

On March 31, 1920, Mr. Bryan said: "Time will never change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. Since I used them four years ago I have had no return of the trouble. I am glad to say Doan's permanently cured me and I also wish to confirm my former statement."

Sun-Baked Soils

Sun baked soil and hot weary horses have long been the bugbear of fall plowing. After a busy season the farmer finds himself and his team unfitted for this hard task which must be done on time.

But neither soil nor season affect the Fordson. Its rugged power is ever present to draw the Oliver Plow through the toughest plowing job on time and the measure of accomplishment is greater and more cheaply attained than by any other method.

No matter what the soil there is a specially built Oliver Plow that will turn it properly.

FIRST ROAD BOND ISSUE WILL BE $10,000,000, PLAN

After That $5,000,000 Yearly at 5 Per Cent—Recalls Sale of Capitol Bonds.

Jefferson City, July 7.—The ways and means committee of the senate has agreed upon a favorable report on the bill providing for the issuance of the $60,000,000 of road bonds. Under this bill the first issue is fixed at $10,000,000, and $5,000,00 annually thereafter, the bonds to bear 5 per cent interest.

On motion of Senator Gray the committee voted for an amendment to the bill stipulating that bonds shall not be marketed at less than 95 per cent of their face value, the discount of 5 per cent to include all commissions for the sale and handling of the bonds.

The history of the sale of the state capitol bonds was gone into in the hearing. The law required that the capitol building bonds be floated at par. They were unsalable. Finally they were sold at about 93 per cent of their face value, the supreme court holding that the state board of fund commissioners had power to pay a commission for the sale of the issue.

The ways and means committee also agreed on an unfavorable report on the Kinney bill providing for the outright repeal of the state income tax law.

Another bill on which a favorable report was voted is the Whitecotton measure reducing the state tax levy of 1 per cent on the $100 valuation to three-fifths of 1 per cent for the payment of interest on school and seminary certificates of indebtedness. There is such an accumulation in this fund that no levy was necessary this year, and the reduced levy provided by the Whitecotton bill is expected to be amply sufficient for the future.

GENERAL PERSHING SUCCEEDS MARSH

HAS ASSUMED DUTIES OF CHIEF OF STAFF

PREPAREDNESS IS GOOD

Adequate Army for Any Crisis Is Commander's Aim—To Recognize Worth of Civilian.

Washington, D. C., July 6.—General J. Pershing today assumed his new duties as head of all the military forces of the United States.

As Chief of Staff, succeeding Major-General Peyton C. Marsh, whose approaching retirment has been announced, General Pershing is in command of the General Staff, the War Department peace-time organization, authorized by Secretary of War Weeks, he will have charge of the work of recruiting the reserve strength of the Army and building up the war machine which he will command if the United States again get into war.

General Pershing is thus put in a position of more authority than has ever been bestowed upon an Army officer in time of peace. While nominally chief of staff, he will actually be the executive officer of the Secretary of war.

Major-General James G. Harbord, as assistant to General Pershing will have charge of the routine work of the General staff and in reality will fill the position which General March has occupied for more than three years.

Preparedness is Goal

It is the intention of Secretary Weeks that General Pershing shall devote the greater part of his time and attention to the problem of preparing the United States in time of peace for war.

His first task will be that of organizing the General Headquarters, which, under present plans, will be built up on the general lines of those followed by Marshall Foch in the French army prior to the outbreak of hostilities in 1914. On this subject General Pershing has very definite ideas. He saw, in 1917, how the War Department General Staff was disrupted when it became necessary to take the cream of officer talent from that organization in order to form a staff for overseas duty. He is determined that such a situation shall not be brought about again if he can prevent it.

While the facilities at hand will permit of only a skelton organization, General Pershing intends to build up that skelton organization in such a way that it will be adequate to take the field in time of crisis and immediately start functioning as the directing head of the American wartime armies. There would of course need to be many additions of personnel to put the organization on a war footing, but under General Pershing's plan there would be a trained man for every really vital post who would not only know how to run his job but would also be ready to break in others as his assistants when the proper time came.

Recognizes Civilian Worth

The present General Staff will have charge of all routine matters of administration in the War Department during peace time. That organization would not be interfered with by the war time machine, but in time of war would function as the Service of Supply for the Armies in the Field.

General Pershing also has postive notions as to the part the civilian soldier should play in our scheme of national defense. As a West Point graduate and "regular army man", the General appreciates the value of the professional soldier as a nucleus upon which to build an army. He labors under no illusions, however, as to the comparative importance of the roles played by professional soldiers and civilian soldiers during the World War. He believes the United States has in her youthful male population the greatest military material in the world, and he saw much of it prove its worth on the battlefields of France.

The great task, the General believes, is to keep these young veterans interested in the army. He wants the National Guard recruited to a strength of 500,000 or more, and be wants to see the Officers' Reserve Corps continued with its war-time spirit and morale.

The General believes the present system of training National Guard units is all wrong. Under the present scheme Regular Army officers who do not "fit" in other jobs are sent out as instructors to National Guard organizations. They are given no particular instructions as to how their work shall be carried on, and each man is free to do about as he pleases.

Decentralization Is Aim

General Pershing is convinced that instructors should be picked men, chosen because they show particular aptitude for the job they are to undertake. He believes the officers so chosen should then be sent to a school for six or eight months and given a uniform course in military pedagogy in order that there may be uniformity in the instruction they are to impart to embryo soldiers to whom they may later be assigned.

Incidentally, General Pershing is expected to make a few changes in the General Staff. While the nature of these changes has not been divulged officially as yet, it is understood that they will be in the direction of decentralization. The General intends that there shall be no ground in the future for the criticism that the General Staff is usurping the functions of War Department bureaus.

Sam Brown Belt May Return

But the Pershing innovation which is awaited with greatest expectancy, especially by officers who served overseas, is the suggested modification of the uniform regulations to include the Sam Brown belt. The question of the Sam Brown belt first came up when the American forces went overseas and the "harness' was authorized for use in the A. E. F. At that time it was recommended by a board of general officers for use in the United States, but the proposal was defeated by the opposition, it is said, of General March.

Being a full general General Pershing has the right to prescribe his own uniform, and since his return he has always worn the Sam Brown belt, regardless of the fact that other officers may not wear it i nthe United States. It is expected that just as soon as he conveniently can the General will recommend to Secretary Weeks that the Sam Brown belt be adopted as part of the American uniform. General Harbord, too, is understood to favor the belt.

Hence the joy among former overseas officers who, despite two or three years of practice, have never quite got over the feeling without the Sam Brown they are "half undressed."

PLANES WILL NOT DISPLACE VESSELS

AIR CRAFT NOT SERIOUS MENACE TO FLEET.

BATTLESHIPS ARE SAFE

Aerial Bombs Will Not Pierce Coat of Armor, Tests Show.

With the Atlantic Fleet, July 6.—No matter what the outcome of aerial bombing operations against naval vessels now under way, these tests will never convince the officers of the Atlantic fleet that the battleship and fighting vessel is to be displaced by air forces.

Although many of the officers admit that they have been forced to recognize that the aerial fighters have acquired an admirable amount of skill, still they refuse to agree that air forces are yet a serious menace to fighting sea ships.

The first argument that every naval officer gives to the claim of the aerial proponents is that naval warfare has been the result of years of progress, and in all of these years there has been but one weapon which has been discarded and that is the ram. It is pointed out that for every advance in methods of attacks upon naval craft there has been developed a new defense.

Warfare is but a cicle of development the Atlantic Fleet officers point out. When the cycle is completed warfare becomes only a test of strength, and they believe that in the final analysis no matter how great the development of the aeroplane, it will be but a test of strength.

Getting down to specific argument against the aeroplane and its bombing attacks, the officers of the fleet point out that thus far it has not been proven that there is any successful armor-piercing aerial bomb. Until this comes the "battle wagon" is safe, they say, for when a battle ship goes into action her vulnerable parts are under protection of a heavy coat of armor. Even though her superstructure and her deck work and her deck defenses may be completely blown away she will remain a fighting craft, unless her armor is penetrated and the vitals of the vessel destroyed.

Opponents of Fleet are Menace.

During the war the men of the navy had no fears of aircraft, they say. They declare that the British Grand Fleet which kept the German naval forces bottled up, lay at anchor during the greater part of the war within easy striking distance of German aerial bases, yet there is no record of any successful or extensive air attack upon the Grand Fleet. Have the developments in aerial warfare come so quick and fast during the last three years that the aerial proponents are able to substantiate their claims that the battleship is now obsolete? the officers of the fleet inquire.

Turning directly to the bombing tests which are now in progress, the fleet officers state that it will be impossible to judge conclusively what the strength of the air raiders is, for there has been no defense. There have been no attacking air parties and there has been no anti-aircraft defense. It is impossible, they say, to estimate the ability of the defenses of the fleet until it has has been actually demonstrated.

The officers of the Navy are willing to agree that aircraft is of great value to them. They use naval aircraft in their target practise continually. They feel that there should be generous appropriations for aircraft as a major defense, but they refuse to consider seriously any proposals that naval developments be withheld while the nation spends its money for aircraft development.

The men of the fleet feel that those who would injure the defenses of the nation are a menace, and they are inclined pirvately to consider in this class those who urge the abolition of the battleship in favor of the aeroplane.

French Laundries Resemble Our Poorest-- Only They Are Worse

Paris, July 6.—Some day, after France has settled all her foreign troubles and turned attention to domestic affairs, a Government is going into power on a pledge to swat the French alundries and if it makes good it will last forever.

A few days after he hits France and begins traveling the provincial towns, the average American turns all his wrath on the absence of bathtubs and combortable barber chairs. After he has been around a while he wishes he had saved 90 per cent of his profanity for the laundries.

The two million Americans who came over to fight in the great war and found themselves quartered in villages behind the front thought the small-town "laundry" ridiculous and the worst ever. It was a very simple affair, indeed. The "blanchisseuse" took father's best shirt down to the edge of the nearest creek or river, laid it out on a flat stone, soaped it and then beat it to death with a heavy scrub brush.

But the shirt generally came out clean, if it escaped alive, and mother only had to sew on the missing buttons to make it ready for Sunday wear. All that is entirely different in Paris and other big towns, which not only boast regular "laundries" but others which flaunt the sign "American laundry—work done in forty-eight hours".

Some people profess to see a great difference between the regular French laundries and the dozens of "American" laundries scattered about Paris. They say the so-called American institutions are much worse. Regular resident Americans, who see their striped shirts come back minus the stripes, their best silk shirts come back in silk ribbons and their underwear (male) replaced by unmistakably female things, with ribbons, think their is no difference at all.

"Darn them!" says one Paris American, "I wouldn't care how they brought it back if I'd only get my own stuff. Here I've got a couple of collars with Moroccan trademarks on them, and another one that says it was bought in French Indo-China and I've never been there. I wear a fifteen collar and they send me back number seventeen shirts, and I have to keep them and wait until a fat friend of mine out in Passy gets a number fifteen back in his laundry. Then we swap."

The crime of the laundries has had one noticeable effect on French civilization, as reflected in man's wearing apparel. Eighty per cent of all Frenchmen wear soft collars, not necessarily because they like them or because it is hot in France. They wear them because a stiff collar hasn't a chance for life when it encounters a French laundry, whereas a soft collar lasts three or four trips. The man who will invent a nice, comfortable steel collar, warranted to resist all the battering attacks of the French laundry hands, is in for a fortune.

COULDN'T STAND THE TODDLE.

Too Much Like Patta da Head and Rubba da Stomach," Says Italian.

Galveston, Texas, July 7.—Bluejackets and officers of the Italian cruiser Libia, which stopped here five days en route to the centenary of Peruvian independence at Callao July 27 emphatically placed the stamp of their approval upon the hospitality of this city, but—

"Ze toddle, she is too much like patta da head and rubba da stomach sama time," ruefully complained a light-footed sailor, after essaying vainly to acquire the bouncing, rubbery step "She almost maka me—what you call it—seasick."

During the Libia's brief stay in this port, both her commissioned and enlisted personnel were the recipients of an elaborate program of entertainment at the hands of Galveston citizens.
